

Producer Price Index for Postal & Courier Services

The Postal & Courier Price Index (PCPI) is the newest addition to the family of Services Producer Price Indices compiled by the Singapore Department of Statistics. The PCPI measures changes in the prices of postal and courier services offered by Singapore-registered providers, covering both business-to-business (B2B) and business-to-consumer (B2C) transactions.

The PCPI comprises two sub-indices, namely the Local PCPI and the International PCPI.

Insights on Price Trends

On a quarter-on-quarter basis, the PCPI fell 1.0% in 2Q 2025, reversing the 3.8% increase in 1Q 2025. This was caused by a decline in the International Postal & Courier (-1.5%) sub-index that was partly offset by the increase in the Local Postal & Courier (2.1%) sub-index.

On a year-on-year basis, the PCPI slipped 0.7% in 2Q 2025, matching the same rate of decline in 1Q 2025. The decrease was mainly attributed to the decline in the International Postal & Courier (-1.1%) sub-index.
