PREFACE

The Singapore Department of Statistics is responsible for developing national statistical standards and promoting the adoption of these standards. The Singapore Standard Occupational Classification (SSOC) is widely used in Singapore as the national standard for classifying information on occupations collected in statistical surveys and censuses of population as well as in administrative systems. The adoption of a common framework for classification benefits both producers and users of data. Among producers, data-sharing is facilitated by the use of the same classification, while users benefit from the availability of consistent and comparable data for analysis.

The SSOC adopts the basic framework and principles of the International Standard Classification of Occupations 1988 (ISCO-88). It is reviewed and updated periodically to reflect changes in the employment structure and the emergence of new occupations in Singapore.

This publication is the fifth edition of the SSOC and supersedes previous editions. It describes the scope and structure of the classification as well as the principles adopted. Brief descriptions of the groups and an alphabetical index are included to facilitate understanding and use of the classification.

Mission

To develop and manage a national statistical information system of quality and integrity to support Singapore's social and economic development.

Performance Pledge

We pledge to maintain high service standards in meeting the data needs of local and overseas users :

Accessibility We provide a wide range of products and services which are readily accessible by the general public.

Relevance We make special efforts to improve the relevance of statistical data to meet user needs.

Reliability We benchmark ourselves against international best practices in statistical activities and adopt rigorous quality assurance standards.

Timeliness We strive for the earliest possible release of data, while balancing the need to maintain data quality.

SINGAPORE STANDARD OCCUPATIONAL CLASSIFICATION 2005

INTRODUCTION

The Singapore Standard Occupational Classification (SSOC) is the national standard for classifying statistical information on occupations to ensure data comparability and consistency. It is designed for use in censuses of population and all other surveys where occupation data are collected. To maintain the currency and relevance of SSOC, the classification is revised regularly, taking into account economic, technological and organisational changes which tend to bring about emergence of new types of work as well as redundancy of some existing jobs.

The SSOC 2005 was updated from the SSOC 2000. It adopts the basic framework of the International Standard Classification of Occupations 1988 (ISCO-88), published by the International Labour Organisation (ILO). Appropriate modifications were made to meet national requirements while providing for international comparability of data.

SCOPE AND NATURE OF CLASSIFICATION

The SSOC 2005 is a classification of occupations according to the type of work performed. Its primary objective is to classify in detail the occupations of the civilian working population, but with provisions for the collective classification of those in the armed services and the foreign diplomatic personnel. It is not applicable to the economically inactive population such as housewives, full-time students, retired persons and voluntary social workers.

STRUCTURE OF CLASSIFICATION

The SSOC 2005 comprises five levels of aggregation, namely Major Group, Sub-major Group, Minor Group, Unit Group and Occupation.

A numerical five-digit coding system is used to distinguish the different levels of classification. The structure and the notation system allow users the flexibility to tabulate, analyse and publish data according to the level of detail required. The basic arrangement of the SSOC 2005 is as follows:

Major Groups (one-digit codes) are the highest level of aggregation and represent very broad fields of work rather than specific types of work performed. There are 10 major groups, such as Professionals, Clerical workers, Production craftsmen and related workers, etc. They are each identified by their corresponding one-digit code ie 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 or 0 as the case may be.

Sub-major Groups (two-digit codes) are the sub-divisions of the major groups eg Physical, Mathematical and Engineering Science Professionals (Sub-major Group 21) within the Major Group 2 'Professionals'. There are 32 sub-major groups corresponding to their respective two-digit codes.

Minor Groups (three-digit codes) are the groups within the sub-major groups eg Architects, Engineers and Related Professionals (Minor Group 214) within the Sub-major Group 21. There are 119 such groups being identified by their respective three-digit codes.

Unit Groups (four-digit codes) are sub-divisions of the minor groups. The classification of groups is finer and more detailed than that for the major groups eg Civil Engineers (Unit Group 2142) within the Minor Group 214. There are 317 unit groups, each identified by the corresponding four-digit code.

Occupations (five-digit codes) are sub-divisions of the unit groups. There are 999 occupations, each identified by a five-digit code.

The following example illustrates the breakdowns of several distinct occupations from the highest level of aggregation (one-digit) to the lowest level of detail (five-digit).

	Title	Code
Major Group	Professionals	2
Sub-Major Group	Physical, Mathematical And Engineering Science Professionals	21
Minor Group	Architects, Engineers And Related Professionals.	214
Unit Group	Civil Engineers	2142
Occupation	Civil Engineer (General)	21421
	Structural Engineer (General)	21422
	Building Construction Engineer	21423
	Sewerage and Sanitary Engineer	21424
	Soil Mechanic and Piling Engineer	21425
	Other Civil and Structural Engineers	24129

At a given level of aggregation including the lowest fifth digit, each important occupation or occupational group is given a distinct numeric code of the appropriate number of digits. Generally, the numeral 9 in the last digit of a two-, three-, four- or five-digit code designates all other miscellaneous occupational groups “not elsewhere classified” (“nec”). These residual categories usually comprise a variety of the less common types of occupational groups which are not significant enough to justify a separate code. As such, they are collectively placed in a separate category so that no occupational groups, however small or insignificant, are left out of the classification scheme.

PRINCIPLES OF CLASSIFICATION

The basic principle used in the classification of occupations in the SSOC 2005 is according to the main type of work performed. Persons who perform the same principal tasks are considered as doing the same type of work and classified under the same occupational group, irrespective of the level of authority, responsibility, work experience, skills and qualifications. Hence, while the senior or more experienced workers in a particular occupation have the subsidiary duty of supervising other workers in the same occupation, such additional supervisory task do not change the basic nature of work done. Chief chemist is therefore classified among chemist (unit group 2113) and chief architect among architects and town planners (unit group 2141).

In defining the broad types of work in the SSOC 2005, the basic concept of skill is adopted. Skill refers to the ability to carry out the tasks and duties of an occupation and has, for the purposes of the SSOC 2005, the following two dimensions:

- a Skill level, which is a function of the complexity and range of the tasks and duties involved; and
- b Skill specialisation, defined by the field of knowledge required, the tools and machinery used, the materials worked on or with, as well as the kinds of goods and services produced.

There are basically four broad skill levels which can be defined in operational terms as follows:

- a The first skill level is defined as requiring primary or no education.
- b The second skill level is defined as requiring secondary or post secondary education.

- c The third skill level is defined as requiring tertiary education leading to an award not equivalent to a first university degree.

- d The fourth skill level is defined as requiring tertiary education leading to a university or postgraduate university degree, or the equivalent.

The use of educational categories to define the four skill levels does not imply that the skills necessary to perform the tasks and duties of a given job can be acquired only through formal education. The skills may be, and often are, acquired through informal training and experience. In addition, the focus is on the skills required to carry out the tasks and duties of an occupation and not on whether a worker in a particular occupation is more or less skilled than another worker in the same occupation.

The major groups of the SSOC 2005 can be categorised according to the four skill levels:

- a Occupations in Major Group 2 ‘Professionals’ require the fourth skill level as defined above.

- b Occupations in Major Group 3 ‘Associate Professionals And Technicians’ require the third skill level as defined above.

- c Occupations in Major Groups 4 ‘Clerical Workers’, 5 ‘Service Workers and Shop and Market Sales Workers’, 6 ‘Agricultural and Fishery Workers’, 7 ‘Production Craftsmen and Related Workers’, and 8 ‘Plant and Machine Operators and Assemblers’ require the second skill level as defined above.

- d Occupations in Major Group 9 ‘Cleaners, Labourers and Related Workers’ require the first skill level as defined above.

The concept of skill level is not applicable to Major Group 1 ‘Legislators, Senior Officials and Managers’ and Major Group X ‘Workers Not Classifiable by Occupation’.

In general, occupations are classified in progressively finer detail within each major group according to skill specialisation.

In classifying occupations by skill level and skill specialisation, two priority rules can be applied:

- a In cases where the tasks and duties performed require different skill levels, the job should be classified according to those tasks and duties which require the highest level of skill. For example, ‘accounts clerk cum receptionist’ should be classified in 41302 (Ledger and Accounts Clerk) and ‘finance and administrative manager’ in 12331 (Budgeting and Financial Accounting Manager).
- b In cases where the tasks and duties are associated with different stages of the process of producing and distributing goods and services, the tasks and duties related to the production stages should take priority over associated tasks and duties, such as those related to the sale and marketing of the same goods, their transportation or the management of the production process. For example, a worker who bakes bread and pastries and then sells them should be classified as a baker, not as a sales worker.

COMPARISON WITH THE SSOC 2000

The basic structure of the SSOC 2005 remains essentially the same as that in the SSOC 2000.

Arising from the changes in the job and skill requirements over the years, some occupational groups have been re-classified to better reflect the job scope and complexities in the tasks performed. For example, social work professionals who provide developmental, preventive and remedial intervention services and require specialised training at tertiary level have been moved from Major Group 3 'Social Work Associate Professionals' to Major Group 2 'Social Work Professionals'. Correspondingly, youth workers, school counsellors and other associate social workers with lower job skill requirements are classified in Major Group 3 in SSOC 2005.

On the whole, the SSOC 2005 contains more categories at 4-and 5-digit levels as compared with SSOC 2000. The number of unit groups and occupations has been revised from 274 and 993 in SSOC 2000 to 317 and 999 in SSOC 2005 respectively.

SUMMARY OF MAJOR GROUPS

LEGISLATORS, SENIOR OFFICIALS AND MANAGERS

This major group includes occupations in the public sector where the job holders' main tasks consist of determining and formulating government policies, enacting laws and public regulations, overseeing their implementation, representing the government, or planning, directing and co-ordinating the policies and activities of ministries, departments and statutory boards. Also included here are occupations in the private sector where the job holders' main tasks consist of formulating the strategies and policies of enterprises and own account business units, implementing the policies and/or running the affairs of the business concerns. Reference to skill level has not been made in defining the scope of this major group. It has been divided into 8 minor groups, reflecting differences in tasks associated with different areas of authority and different types of enterprises and organisations.

PROFESSIONALS

This major group includes occupations where the main tasks require a high level of specialised knowledge and ability in the fields of physical and life sciences, or social sciences and humanities. The main tasks consist of increasing the existing stock of knowledge, applying scientific and artistic concepts and theories to the solution of problems, and teaching about the foregoing in a systematic manner. Most occupations in this major group require skills at the fourth skill level. This major group has been divided into 20 minor groups, reflecting differences in tasks associated with different fields of knowledge and specialisation.

ASSOCIATE PROFESSIONALS AND TECHNICIANS

This major group includes occupations where the main tasks require technical knowledge and ability in one or more fields of physical and life sciences, or social sciences and humanities. The main tasks consist of carrying out technical work connected with the application of concepts and operational methods in the above-mentioned fields, and in teaching at certain educational levels. Most occupations in this major group require skills at the third skill level. This major group has been divided into 21 minor groups, reflecting differences in tasks associated with different fields of knowledge and specialisation.

CLERICAL WORKERS

This major group includes occupations where the main tasks require the knowledge and ability necessary to organise, store, check, transcribe, compute and retrieve information. The main tasks consist of performing secretarial duties, operating word processors and other office machines, recording and computing numerical data, and performing a number of customer-oriented clerical duties, mostly in connection with money-handling operations and appointments. Most occupations in this major group require skills at the second skill level. This major group has been divided into 8 minor groups, reflecting differences in tasks associated with different areas of specialisation.

SERVICE WORKERS AND SHOP AND MARKET SALES WORKERS

This major group includes occupations where the main tasks require the knowledge and ability necessary to provide personal and protective services, and to sell goods in shops or at markets. The main tasks consist of providing services related to travel, housekeeping, catering, personal care, protection of individuals and property, and to maintaining law and order, mail distribution or selling goods in shops or at markets. Most occupations in this major group require skills at the second skill level. This major group has been divided into 9 minor groups, reflecting differences in tasks associated with different areas of specialisation.

AGRICULTURAL AND FISHERY WORKERS

This major group includes occupations where the main tasks require the knowledge and ability necessary to produce farm and fishery products. The main tasks consist of growing crops, breeding animals, catching or rearing fish, conserving forests and, selling products to purchasers, marketing organisations or at markets. Most occupations in this major group require skills at the second skill level. This major group has been divided into 2 minor groups, reflecting differences in tasks associated with different areas of specialisation.

PRODUCTION CRAFTSMEN AND RELATED WORKERS

This major group includes occupations where the main tasks require the knowledge and ability to practise skilled trades or handicrafts which, among other things, involves an understanding of materials and tools to be used, as well as of all stages of the production process, including the characteristics and the intended use of the final product. The main tasks consist of extracting raw materials, constructing buildings and other structures and making various products as well as handicraft goods. Most occupations in this major group require skills at the second skill level. This major group has been divided into 17 minor groups, reflecting differences in tasks associated with different areas of specialisation.

PLANT AND MACHINE OPERATORS AND ASSEMBLERS

This major group includes occupations where the main tasks require the knowledge and ability necessary to operate and monitor large scale, and often highly automated, industrial machinery and equipment. The main tasks consist of operating and monitoring, processing and production machinery and equipment, as well as driving vehicles and driving and operating mobile plant, or assembling products from component parts. Most occupations in this major group require skills at the second skill level. This major group has been divided into 24 minor groups, reflecting differences in tasks associated with different areas of specialisation.

CLEANERS, LABOURERS AND RELATED WORKERS

This major group covers occupations which require the knowledge and ability necessary to perform mostly simple and routine tasks, involving the use of hand-held tools and in some cases considerable physical effort, and, with few exceptions, only limited personal initiative or judgement. The main tasks consist of doorkeeping and property watching, as well as cleaning, washing, pressing, and working as labourers in the fields of agriculture, construction, manufacturing and transport. Most occupations in this major group require skills at the first skill level. This major group has been divided into 10 minor groups, reflecting differences in tasks associated with different areas of work.

DESCRIPTION OF MINOR GROUPS

111 LEGISLATORS

Legislators determine, formulate and direct government policies, and make, ratify, amend or repeal laws, public rules and regulations.

Tasks performed usually include presiding over or participating in the proceedings of parliament, determining, formulating and deciding on government policies; making, ratifying, amending or repealing laws, public rules and regulations; serving on government administrative boards or official committees; directing administrators and officials of government departments and statutory boards in interpreting and implementing government policy; serving the interests of the constituencies which they represent.

Legislators who are principally engaged in other full-time occupations are classified in the group appropriate to their main occupations and not here.

112 SENIOR GOVERNMENT AND STATUTORY BOARD OFFICIALS

Senior government and statutory board officials advise government on policy matters and oversee the interpretation and implementation of government policies and legislation by government departments and statutory boards.

Tasks performed usually include advising government on policy matters; advising on preparation of government budgets, laws, rules and regulations, including amendments; overseeing the interpretation and implementation of government policies and legislation by government departments and statutory boards.

Included are officers representing the country as ambassadors, consul-generals or permanent delegates to intergovernmental organisations. Government employees who manage government-owned or government-controlled industrial, commercial or other business enterprises are excluded and classified in the same group as managers of similar private establishments. Government employees performing mainly professional functions are classified in Major Group 2.

113 SENIOR OFFICIALS OF SPECIAL-INTEREST ORGANISATIONS

Senior officials of special-interest organisations determine, formulate and direct the implementation of policies of special-interest organisations such as political party organisations, trade unions, employers' organisations, trade and industry associations, humanitarian or charity organisations, or sports associations, and represent their organisations and act on their behalf.

Tasks performed usually include determining and formulating the policies, rules and regulations of the organisation; negotiating on behalf of the organisation, its members and clients; promoting the interests of the organisation, its members and clients before the legislature, government or general public; planning, organising and directing sections charged with implementing the organisation's policies, rules and regulations.

121 COMPANY DIRECTORS

Company directors participate as members of boards of directors in agricultural, industrial, trade, transport, communication or other such enterprises, formulate policies and are responsible to the proprietors or shareholders for ensuring that policies so formulated are implemented and progressively amended in the light of changing circumstances.

Tasks performed usually include determining and formulating policies governing the operations of the enterprise; reviewing the operations and results of the enterprise; representing the enterprise in its dealings with outside bodies, including government authorities and other organisations.

122 GENERAL MANAGERS

General managers plan, direct, control and co-ordinate, on proprietors' or on own behalf, the activities of agricultural, industrial, trade, transport, communication or other such enterprises, within the powers delegated to them and guidelines set up by a board of directors to whom they are answerable for the results obtained and operations undertaken.

Tasks performed usually include assessing past, present and projected performance of the enterprise; formulating and determining the programme of the enterprise; determining the methods by which the programme should be carried out; controlling and coordinating the activities of the different functional sections of the enterprise; conducting or directing negotiations on behalf of the enterprise; deciding or approving senior staff appointments.

123 DEPARTMENT MANAGERS

Department managers plan, direct and co-ordinate specialised functions belonging to particular fields of activity within an enterprise, under the broad direction of the directors and general manager and in consultation with managers of other departments.

Tasks performed usually include planning, directing and coordinating activities of their departments; directing daily operations; planning and controlling expenditures; overseeing the selection, training and performance of staff; liaising with managers of other departments; representing their departments in dealings with other parts of the enterprise or with outside bodies.

129 MANAGERS NOT ELSEWHERE CLASSIFIED

This minor group covers managers not classified elsewhere in sub-major group 12. Shop sales managers, lodging services managers and restaurant and other catering services managers are classified here.

130 WORKING PROPRIETORS

Working proprietors run by themselves or jointly with other partners, their own commercial undertakings in agriculture, manufacturing, construction, wholesale and retail trade, restaurants and hotels, transport or business and other services.

Tasks performed usually include planning and managing daily operations; estimating needs of the business, maintaining records and keeping accounts; negotiating with suppliers, customers and other enterprises; planning and controlling the use of resources; selecting and supervising employees.

Self-employed professionals, insurance agents, real estate agents, pawnbrokers, money changers, hawkers, hair-dressers, electricians, motor car mechanics, etc who run their own businesses but perform the principal tasks of their occupations are classified in the minor groups appropriate to their occupations and not here.

211 PHYSICAL SCIENCE PROFESSIONALS

Physical science professionals conduct research, improve or develop concepts, theories and operational methods, or apply scientific knowledge relating to physics, astronomy, meteorology, chemistry, geophysics and geology.

Tasks performed usually include conducting experiments, tests and analyses to determine the composition or structure and properties of matter, including the earth and the earth's crust and atmosphere; evaluating results of investigations and experiments and deriving conclusions; applying scientific knowledge to test, develop and improve materials, and industrial products and processes; developing or improving oil, gas, water and mineral exploitation, navigation, radio communications, civil engineering and weather forecasting; preparing scientific papers and reports.

212 MATHEMATICIANS, STATISTICIANS AND RELATED PROFESSIONALS

Mathematicians, statisticians and related professionals conduct research, improve or develop mathematical, actuarial or statistical concepts, theories and operational methods and techniques, and apply this knowledge to a wide range of tasks in such fields as engineering, business or medicine as well as natural, life or social sciences.

Tasks performed usually include conducting research in mathematics or statistics and advising on or applying mathematical, actuarial and statistical principles and techniques; planning, designing and conducting statistical collections; evaluating, organising, processing, interpreting and analysing statistical data; dealing with, and advising on, actuarial matters, including design of insurance and pension schemes; preparing scientific papers and reports.

213 INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY PROFESSIONALS

Information technology professionals conduct research, plan, develop and improve computer-based information processing and multimedia systems, software and related concepts, develop principles and operational methods, as well as maintain data dictionary and management systems of databases to ensure integrity and security of data.

Tasks performed usually include conducting research into theoretical aspects of and operational methods for the use of computers, such as data structures and databases, algorithms, artificial intelligence, computer languages, data communication and robotics; advising on, planning and managing computer installations and operations; evaluating, planning and designing software configurations for specific applications; designing, writing, testing and maintaining computer programmes; developing methods and procedures for quality assurance and security of information systems; advising on, designing and administering database systems; preparing scientific papers and technical reports, documentation and manuals; analysing, designing, testing and evaluating network systems such as LAN, WAN, Internet, Intranet and data communications systems; performing network modelling analysis and planning; researching and recommending network and data communications hardware and software.

Included here are computing services managers who plan and direct computer operations on data entry and processing, or plan and direct development of application systems. Telecommunications specialists who deal with the interfacing of computer and communications equipment are also included in this minor group. Engineers who specialise in the design and development of computer hardware are classified in minor group 214 (Architects, Engineers and Related Professionals). Engineers and other technical staff who are engaged in the installation, diagnostic tests, repair and servicing of computer hardware, incidental to the sale of such equipment to clients, are classified in minor group 341 (Finance and Sales Associate Professionals), together with sales and service advisers who assist and train clients in end-user applications. Teaching professionals who conduct formal courses in one or more aspects of information technology are classified in either minor group 231 (University, Polytechnic and Other Higher Education Teachers) or minor group 332 (Extracurriculum Teachers), according to the level of the courses.

214 ARCHITECTS, ENGINEERS AND RELATED PROFESSIONALS

Architects, engineers and related professionals conduct research and improve or develop concepts, theories and operational methods, or apply existing knowledge in such fields as architecture, engineering, and technological or economic efficiency of production processes.

Tasks performed usually include conducting research and advising on, designing and directing the construction, maintenance and repair of buildings, towns, traffic and landscape systems, civil and other engineering structures, electrical and electronic products and systems, as well as machines, machinery and industrial plants; developing and applying commercial-scale chemical processes for the production of various substances and materials; developing and applying commercial-scale methods to extract water, oil and gas and other minerals from the earth, or metals from their ores, or to develop new materials; studying and advising on technological aspects of particular materials, products and processes and on efficiency of production and work organisation; surveying land, sea and other areas and producing graphic, digital and pictorial representations; preparing scientific papers and reports.

221 LIFE SCIENCE PROFESSIONALS

Life science professionals conduct research, improve or develop concepts, theories and operational methods, or apply scientific knowledge relating to biology, microbiology, zoology, botany, ecology, anatomy, biochemistry, biophysics, physiology, bacteriology, cytology, genetics, agronomy, pathology or pharmacology.

Tasks performed usually include conducting research, performing field or laboratory studies, experiments and tests on all forms of human, animal and plant life, including specific organs, tissues, cells and micro-organisms and the effect of environmental factors or drugs and other substances on them; analysing and evaluating data obtained; developing practical applications in such fields as agriculture, pharmaceutical and other industries or medicine; preparing scientific papers and reports.

222 HEALTH PROFESSIONALS

Health professionals conduct research, improve or develop concepts, theories and operational methods, and apply scientific knowledge relating to medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, pharmacy, psychiatry, and promotion of health.

Tasks performed usually include performing diagnostic, preventive and curative services for human and animal disorders and illnesses; administering surgical and medical or dental treatment; preparing and dispensing medicaments according to doctors' prescriptions or established formulae; preparing scientific papers and reports.

231 UNIVERSITY, POLYTECHNIC AND OTHER HIGHER EDUCATION TEACHERS

University, polytechnic and other higher education teachers teach one or more subjects at tertiary levels, conduct research and improve or develop concepts, theories and operational methods pertaining to their particular disciplines, and prepare scholarly papers and books.

Tasks performed usually include designing or modifying curricula and preparing courses of study; conducting courses, giving seminars or delivering lectures and conducting tutorials and laboratory experiments; administering, evaluating and marking examination papers and tests; directing research of post-graduate students; conducting research in their particular subjects to improve or develop concepts, theories and operational methods for application in industrial and other fields; participating in decisions concerning the organisation of teaching and related activities; preparing scientific and other scholarly papers and reports.

232 UPPER SECONDARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION TEACHERS

Upper secondary and secondary education teachers teach one or more subjects, for educational or vocational purposes, at some or all levels between the termination of primary education and the beginning of tertiary education.

Tasks performed usually include designing or modifying curricula and preparing educational or vocational courses of study; giving lessons and supervising pupils' class work and discipline; preparing, assigning and correcting exercises; administering, evaluating and marking examination papers and tests; participating in decisions concerning the organisation of school teaching and related activities.

233 PRIMARY EDUCATION TEACHERS

Primary education teachers teach a range of subjects and organise educational activities for children at primary-school age.

Tasks performed usually include preparing programme of learning and giving instruction in a range of subjects at the primary education level; preparing, administering and marking tests, projects and assignments to train pupils and to evaluate their progress; encouraging personal development of pupils; supervising pupils in classroom and other areas of school.

234 SPECIAL EDUCATION TEACHERS

Special education teachers teach physically or mentally handicapped children, young persons or adults, or those with learning difficulties, at a given level of education.

Tasks performed usually include adapting curriculum to suit the particular group of mentally or physically handicapped persons, or those with learning difficulties; teaching one or more subjects to, for instance, deaf or blind persons by using braille, lip-reading and other special aids and techniques; preparing reports.

239 TEACHING PROFESSIONALS NOT ELSEWHERE CLASSIFIED

This minor group covers teaching professionals not classified in minor groups 231-234. Teaching professionals classified here should include those who conduct research and develop or advise on teaching methods and aids, or review and examine teachers' work and the results achieved in applying a particular curriculum programme and suggest changes and improvements.

Tasks performed usually include carrying out research on current developments in curricula, teaching methods and other educational practices, including teaching aids, and advising on necessary changes and improvements; carrying out periodic inspection of teachers' work in the application of a particular curriculum programme and suggesting changes and improvements if necessary; preparing reports.

Teachers mainly engaged in teaching activities outside the normal school curriculum, such as teaching of micro-computer software packages, flower arrangement and related arts and crafts, and foreign languages are classified in minor group 332 (Extracurriculum Teachers).

241 ACCOUNTANTS

Accountants plan and perform accounting services, advise on accountancy matters, and plan and conduct audits of accounts of private persons, enterprises, institutions and governmental organisations.

Tasks performed usually include advising on, planning and installing budgetary, accounts controlling and other accounting policies and systems; preparing and certifying financial statements for presentation to management, shareholders, statutory or other bodies; preparing tax returns, advising on taxation problems and contesting disputed claims before tax officials; preparing or reporting on profit forecasts and budgets; conducting financial investigations in such matters as suspected fraud, insolvency and bankruptcy; auditing accounts and bookkeeping records.

242 FINANCIAL ANALYSTS AND RELATED PROFESSIONALS

Financial analysts and related professionals improve, advise on or apply operational methods relating to financial investments in a brokerage firm, fund management unit or treasury department of business and other organisations.

Tasks performed usually include analysing the financial profile of companies for the purpose of making investment recommendations; investing funds on behalf of an investment organisation's clients in the money and capital markets; overseeing and coordinating treasury activities such as forex, money market and bond transactions.

Employees of banks and other similar establishments who are engaged mainly in assessing and approving applications for credit, loan and other banking and related financial services are classified in minor group 392 (Statistical, Administrative and Related Associate Professionals).

249 BUSINESS PROFESSIONALS NOT ELSEWHERE CLASSIFIED

This minor group covers business professionals not classified in minor groups 241 and 242. Business professionals classified here should include those who improve, advise on or apply operational methods relating to the organisation and conduct of business such as marketing, advertising, applications of rules concerning patents or steps to be taken in setting up and running a business.

Tasks performed usually include conducting research on, determining and advising on existing sales levels and assessing markets and future trends; planning, advising on or directing and coordinating production of advertising campaigns for particular clients of an advertising agency; giving advice concerning patents and assisting in preparing applications or examining applications submitted for registration; studying and advising on general aspects of financial, legal, organisational, marketing and other aspects connected with setting up and running a business.

250 LEGAL PROFESSIONALS

Legal professionals conduct research on legal problems, draft laws and regulations, advise clients on legal aspects of problems, and plead cases or conduct prosecutions in courts of justice or preside over judicial proceedings and pronounce judgement in courts of justice.

Tasks performed usually include giving clients legal advice; undertaking legal business on clients' behalf, and conducting litigation; presiding over judicial proceedings and pronouncing judgements in courts of justice.

291 ARCHIVISTS, LIBRARIANS AND RELATED PROFESSIONALS

Archivists, librarians and related professionals develop, conserve and maintain the collections of libraries, archives, museums, art galleries and similar establishments.

Tasks performed usually include conducting research, appraising or developing and organising the contents of archives and artifacts of historical, cultural and artistic interest, and ensuring their safe-keeping and preservation; organising the collections of, and exhibitions at, museums, art galleries and similar establishments; developing and maintaining the systematic collection of recorded and published material and making it available to users in libraries and related institutions; diagnosis and prognosis of art work for optimum form, quality and life span; preparing scholarly papers and reports.

This minor group covers other professionals whose functions are outside the scope of those classified in minor groups 291-294.

310 ASSISTANT ENGINEERS

Assistant engineers assist in the development of operational methods in engineering, design of structures, machinery and equipment or application of existing knowledge to solve engineering problems.

Tasks performed usually include assisting in designing new products and developing or improving production processes; assisting in technical supervision of manufacture, utilisation, maintenance and repair of structures, machinery and equipment.

311 CHEMICAL AND PHYSICAL SCIENCE TECHNICIANS

Chemical and physical science technicians perform technical tasks related to research in chemistry, physics, geology, geophysics, meteorology and astronomy, as well as to the development and practical applications of research results.

Tasks performed usually include assisting with the design and conduct of field and laboratory tests and data collection; preparing detailed estimates of quantities and costs of projects and operations; applying knowledge of principles and practices in order to identify and solve problems arising in the course of their work.

312 BUILDING AND ENGINEERING TECHNICIANS

Building and engineering technicians perform technical tasks related to research and the practical application of concepts, principles and operational methods in areas such as engineering, technical drawing or economic efficiency of production process.

Tasks performed usually include providing technical assistance in research and development, or testing prototypes; preparing detailed estimates of quantities and costs of projects and operations; providing supervision during the process of the projects or operations; applying knowledge of principles and practices in order to identify and solve problems arising in the course of their work; preparing maps and detailed technical drawings.

313 COMPUTER SYSTEMS OPERATORS

Computer systems operators operate mainframe computers and peripheral equipment and carry out limited programming tasks in connection with installation and maintenance of mainframe computer hardware and software.

Tasks performed usually include operating mainframe computers and peripheral equipment; organising computing jobs; mounting magnetic tapes and disks; keeping log of computing operations; and performing back-up operations.

Computer data entry operators are classified in minor group 411 (Secretaries and Keyboard Operating Clerks). Clerical workers who use computers as part of their jobs in administration, accounting, statistical compilation and computation, material recording or client reception are classified in the minor groups 412-490 appropriate to their principal clerical tasks.

314 OPTICAL AND ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT OPERATORS

Optical and electronic equipment operators take photographs, control motion picture and video cameras and other equipment to record and edit images and sound, control broadcasting and telecommunications equipment and systems.

Tasks performed usually include taking photographs; controlling motion picture and video cameras and other equipment to record and edit images and sound; controlling the technical functioning of radio and television broadcasting equipment and telecommunications systems.

Medical X-ray technicians and operators of technical equipment for medical diagnosis or treatment are classified in minor group 322 (Health Associate Professionals).

315 TRANSPORT CONTROLLERS, TECHNICIANS AND SUPERVISORS

Transport controllers, technicians and supervisors command and navigate ships and aircraft, perform technical functions to ensure safe and efficient movement and operations, and supervise land, air and waterborne transport service operations.

Tasks performed usually include controlling the operation of mechanical, electrical and electronic equipment on board ship or on aircraft, commanding and navigating ships or aircraft or directing the movements of ships or aircraft; supervising railway, road, air and waterborne, transport service operations; coordinating, flight planning and assisting in monitoring of en-route operations; supervising the receipt and dispatch of cargo and mail through aircraft and assessing freight charges.

316 BUILDING, SAFETY AND HEALTH INSPECTORS

Building, safety and health inspectors enforce the rules and regulations relating to fire prevention and other hazards, occupational safety, protection of health and the environment, safety of production processes, and goods and services produced, used or sold, as well as those relating to the quality standards and specifications of manufacture.

Tasks performed usually include ensuring that buildings and other structures comply with approved building plans, grading and zoning laws and fire regulations; advising on and inspecting fire-prevention systems; investigating fire sites to determine the cause of fire; inspecting industrial and other enterprises on the grounds of occupational safety, and safety of production processes, as well as of goods produced, used or sold; ensuring compliance with health and environment protection rules and regulations; ensuring compliance with the quality standards and specifications of manufacturers.

321 LIFE SCIENCE TECHNICIANS AND RELATED ASSOCIATE PROFESSIONALS

Life sciences technicians and related associate professionals perform technical tasks related to research and the practical application of concepts, principles and operational methods particular to life sciences, such as biology, botany, zoology, bacteriology and biochemistry, as well as to agriculture and agronomy.

Tasks performed usually include preparing materials for experiments and collecting specimens and samples of plants and animals; assisting in carrying out experiments and tests; collecting data and estimating quantities and costs required for projects; advising on ways to improve quantity and quality of yields and efficiency of operation in farming.

322/323 HEALTH ASSOCIATE PROFESSIONALS

Health associate professionals perform technical tasks related to research and the practical application of concepts, principles and operational methods in the fields of medicine, veterinary medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, promotion of health and related disciplines.

Tasks performed usually include hammering and forging iron, steel and other metals to make and repair various kinds of tools, equipment and other articles; making, maintaining and repairing dies, jigs, gauges and fixtures; making and repairing metal patterns for foundry moulds; polishing and sharpening metal surfaces and tools.

723 MACHINERY MECHANICS AND FITTERS

Machinery mechanics and fitters fit, install, maintain and repair vehicles, engines, agricultural or industrial machinery, and mechanical equipment.

Tasks performed usually include examining drawings or specifications of item to be made and planning sequence of operations; performing filing, chiselling and other supplementary tooling and machining to ensure correct fit; aligning and fitting parts using hand tools such as wrenches, spanners, screwdrivers and pliers; erecting and installing machinery at place of use; adjusting and maintaining machinery to keep them in good working order; repairing or replacing defective parts.

724 ELECTRICAL AND ELECTRONIC INSTRUMENT MECHANICS AND FITTERS

Electrical and electronic instrument mechanics and fitters fit, adjust, install and repair electrical and electronic equipment such as electrical motors, generators, domestic appliances, computer hardware, sound and image recording and telecommunications systems, install and service electrical wiring systems in houses, industrial plants and other establishments, and in ships, motor vehicles and aircraft, and install, construct and repair electrical cables, telephone and telegraph lines and related equipment.

Tasks performed usually include examining wiring and assembly diagrams and other specification, performing filing, chiselling and other supplementary tooling and machining to ensure correct fit; fitting parts together using screwdrivers, pliers and other tools, and installing and connecting wiring; erecting and installing machinery at place of use; adjusting and maintaining machinery to keep them in good working order and repairing or replacing defective parts; installing, servicing and repairing electrical wiring systems and related equipment in houses, industrial and commercial establishments, other buildings, aircraft, motor vehicles and ships; installing, constructing and repairing electrical lines and joint cables.

Workers who assemble electrical or electronic equipment and components, usually in an assembly line, are classified in minor group 828 (Assemblers and Quality Checkers).

730 SUPERVISORS AND GENERAL FOREMEN (PRECISION, HANDICRAFT, PRINTING AND RELATED TRADES)

Supervisors and general foremen in precision, handicraft, printing and related trades supervise production activities within a distinct unit of an establishment in which precision instruments, musical instruments, jewellery, pottery and glass products are fabricated or within a unit specialising in typesetting and related work in a printing establishment, and control and coordinate the activities of workers in various occupations.

Tasks performed usually include interpreting specifications and job orders; determining sequence of operations and use of equipment; estimating manpower requirements; assigning duties to workers; analysing and resolving work problems; coordinating the work of one or more units with other units; recommending or initiating personnel action.

731 PRECISION WORKERS IN METAL AND RELATED MATERIALS

Precision workers in metal and related materials make and repair precision instruments, musical instruments, jewellery and articles of precious metals.

Tasks performed usually include making and repairing watches and clocks; making, servicing and repairing nautical, meteorological, optical, surgical, dental, orthopaedic and other scientific instruments and equipment; making and repairing musical instruments; cutting or setting gems, and making and repairing jewellery and precious metalware.

732 POTTERS, GLASS MAKERS AND RELATED TRADES WORKERS

Potters, glass makers and related trades workers make bricks, tiles, pottery, porcelainware and glassware, engrave and etch designs on glass articles, and paint or decorate glass, ceramics and related articles.

Tasks performed usually include making abrasive wheels, pottery, porcelainware, bricks and tiles; making glassware; engraving and etching designs on glass articles; decorating glass and ceramic articles; applying decorative coatings of paint and similar materials to various articles.

733 PRINTING AND RELATED TRADES WORKERS

Printing and related trades workers set and arrange printing type, make printing plates from set-up type, engrave lithographic stones, printing plates and rollers, make and print with silk screens, print on materials other than paper.

Tasks performed usually include setting and arranging printing type through electronic keyboarding or other machines; making printing plates from set-up type; engraving lithographic stones, printing plates, rollers, dies and blocks; making and printing with silk screens; printing on materials other than paper.

Printing, bookbinding and related machinery operators are classified in minor group 825 (Printing, Binding and Paper Products Machine Operators).

740 SUPERVISORS AND GENERAL FOREMEN (FOOD PROCESSING, WOODWORKING, TEXTILE, LEATHER AND RELATED TRADES)

Supervisors and general foremen in food processing, woodworking, textile, leather and related trades supervise production activities within a distinct unit of an establishment in which specific knowledge and skills are used for processing foodstuffs and beverages, preparation of fibres, treatment of wood, manufacture of wooden furniture, fur articles, made-to-order garments, footwear and leather goods, and control and coordinate the activities of workers in various occupations.

Tasks performed usually include interpreting specifications and job orders; determining sequence of operations and use of equipment; estimating manpower requirements; assigning duties to workers; analysing and resolving work problems; coordinating the work of one or more units with other units; recommending or initiating personnel action.

Workers who operate machines for the manufacture of thread, yarn and textile, or sewing of garments in standardised series, are classified in minor group 826 (Textile Products Machine Operators).

744 LEATHER AND SHOEMAKING TRADES WORKERS

Leather and shoemaking trades make and repair footwear and other articles (except garments, hats and gloves) from leather and similar materials.

Tasks performed usually include making and repairing footwear from leather and similar materials; making and repairing articles mainly of leather and similar materials such as luggage, brief-cases, handbags, key and coin purses.

790 PRODUCTION CRAFTSMEN AND RELATED WORKERS NOT ELSEWHERE CLASSIFIED

This minor group covers production craftsmen whose tasks are outside the scope of those classified in minor groups 741-744. Production craftsmen classified here should include those who make novelty articles from strips of leather or other pliable material by hand knotting and weaving, make wigs, fastening strands of hair to cloth base, mix colours for manufacture of paints, or make rubber stamps to order and mount them for use; prepare fur- and wool-bearing pelts for making garments and other products; extract solid minerals from underground or surface mines or quarries, or cut, shape and finish granite, limestone, marble, sandstone and other stones, for building, ornamental, monumental and other purposes.

810 STATIONARY PLANT SUPERVISORS AND GENERAL FOREMEN

Stationary plant supervisors and general foremen supervise production activities of a distinct unit at a well drilling site or within an establishment engaged in processing of mineral ore and stone, metal, wood, or chemicals, or activities of a distinct unit within an establishment concerned with the production and distribution of electricity, steam or gas, or with water supply, sewage disposal and treatment, or refrigeration and assimilated services, and control and coordinate the activities of workers in various occupations.

Tasks performed usually include interpreting specifications and job orders; determining sequence of operations and use of equipment; estimating manpower requirements; assigning duties to workers; analysing and resolving work problems; coordinating the work of one or more units with other units; recommending or initiating personnel action.

811 MINING PLANT OPERATORS

Mining plant operators operate and monitor plant for cutting channels in mine workface or for the drilling and sinking of wells.

Tasks performed usually include operating and monitoring machinery and equipment used for continuous mining or for drilling holes or cutting channels in a mine or quarry workface; operating and monitoring machinery and equipment used as well as for the drilling and sinking of wells.

812 METAL PROCESSING PLANT OPERATORS

Metal processing plant operators operate and monitor ore smelting, metal converting and refining furnaces, metal rolling mills, metal heat treating plants or metal extrusion plants.

Tasks performed usually include operating and monitoring furnaces for ore smelting, melting, refining, converting or reheating metal; operating rolling mills to make steel bars, plates, sheets, seamless tubes and pipes and other non-ferrous metal products; pouring metal into moulds and operating metal casting machines; operating and monitoring heating, cooling and chemical treating plant to alter the physical properties of metal objects; operating and monitoring machinery which draw and extrude metals through dies to make wire, pipes, tubes and similar products.

813 GLASS, CERAMICS AND RELATED PLANT OPERATORS

Glass, ceramics and related plant operators operate and monitor kilns, furnaces and other machinery and equipment used in the manufacturing of glass and ceramic products.

Tasks performed usually include operating and monitoring kilns, furnaces and other machinery and equipment used for making glass and ceramic products.

814 WOOD PROCESSING AND PAPERMAKING PLANT OPERATORS

Wood processing and papermaking plant operators operate and monitor machinery and equipment which saw, cut and grind wood in preparation for further use, convert wood and other materials into pulp and make paper from pulp.

Tasks performed usually include operating and monitoring machinery and equipment to saw logs into planks or boards or to cut uneven edges of rough boards; operating veneer cutting machine, plywood core layer and plywood press; operating and monitoring machines to convert logs, rags, waste paper and other materials into pulp; operating and monitoring machinery for making paper from pulp.

815 CHEMICAL PROCESSING PLANT OPERATORS

Chemical processing plant operators operate and monitor machinery and equipment which process chemicals and related materials to obtain products with desirable properties.

Tasks performed usually include operating and monitoring machinery and equipment for processing chemicals by crushing, heating, mixing, distilling or filtering to obtain products with desirable properties, or operating and monitoring plants for treating petroleum and petroleum-based products.

816 POWER GENERATING AND RELATED PLANT OPERATORS

Power generating and related plant operators operate and monitor machinery and equipment in an electrical power generating plant, and water treatment, incinerator and related plant, and operate and maintain ships' and other types of steam engines and boilers.

Tasks performed usually include operating and monitoring machinery and equipment for producing electric power; operating and monitoring steam engines and boilers and other stationary machinery and equipment such as incinerators or water treatment plants and pumping stations.

817 AUTOMATED ASSEMBLY LINE AND INDUSTRIAL ROBOT OPERATORS

Automated assembly line and industrial robot operators operate and monitor automated or semi-automated assembling lines as well as industrial robots.

Tasks performed usually include operating and monitoring automated or partly automated assembling lines as well as industrial robots.

819 OTHER STATIONARY PLANT AND RELATED PLANT OPERATORS

Other stationary plant and related plant operators cover plant operators whose tasks are outside the scope of those classified under minor groups 810-817. Plant operators classified here include those operating and monitoring machinery and equipment used for processing mineral ore and stone.

820 MACHINE SUPERVISORS AND GENERAL FOREMEN

Machine supervisors and general foremen supervise the production activities of a distinct unit within an establishment in which machines are used for the manufacture of various products on an industrial basis, or a unit concerned with manufacturing and assembling of electrical and electronic equipment and components, and control and coordinate the activities of workers in various occupations.

Tasks performed usually include interpreting specifications and job orders; determining sequence of operations and use of equipment; estimating manpower requirements; assigning duties to workers; analysing and resolving work problems; coordinating the work of one or more units with other units; recommending or initiating personnel action.

821 METAL AND MINERAL PRODUCTS MACHINE OPERATORS

Metal and mineral products machine operators operate and monitor metalworking machines and machines for making products composed primarily of non-metallic mineral materials.

Tasks performed usually include operating and monitoring metalworking machines set up for repetitive work such as lathes, power shears and boring, grinding and metal sawing machine tools, or operating and monitoring machines to extrude, mould, mix, grind and cut various pre-cast cement, concrete and stone products.

822 CHEMICAL PRODUCTS MACHINE OPERATORS

Chemical products machine operators operate and monitor machines which process a variety of chemicals and other ingredients to produce pharmaceuticals, toiletries, explosives, photographic or other chemical products, or to finish, plate and coat metal articles.

Tasks performed usually include operating and monitoring machines which mould, filter, ferment, mix, blend and otherwise process chemicals and other materials to give them desired properties for further industrial production, or to make finished products; operating and monitoring machines which finish, plate and coat metal products; processing photographic and motion picture film and operating machines to make photographic prints.

81610	Electricity generator operator (private installation)	32249	Electrotherapist
21110	Electricity physicist	73322	Electrotype caster
32309	Electrocardiograph technician	73322	Electrotype moulder
81502	Electrode baking furnaceman	73322	Electrotyper
32309	Electroencephalograph technician	39591	Elephant trainer
82812	Electronic component assembler	21433	Elevator engineer
72439	Electronic computer and related equipment fitter	72422	Elevator fitter (electrical)
31300	Electronic computer operator (mainframe)	83329	Elevator operator (material-handling)
21319	Electronic data processing manager	73310	Elrod casting machine operator (printing)
31300	Electronic data processing supervisor	51352	Embalmer
82812	Electronic equipment assembler	82522	Embossing machine operator, book
72439	Electronic industrial equipment fitter	82522	Embossing machine operator, book
72439	Electronic instrument fitter	82539	Embossing machine operator, paper
72439	Electronic medical equipment fitter	82319	Embossing machine operator, rubber
72439	Electronic meteorological equipment fitter	74399	Embroiderer, hand
31295	Electronic pre-press technician	82632	Embroiderer, machine
82821	Electronic products checker (quality assurance)	82631	Embroidering machine operator
82821	Electronic products inspector and tester	72239	Emery polisher (metalworking)
82821	Electronic products quality checker	34304	Employment agent
72431	Electronic prototype fitter	24909	Employment counsellor
72439	Electronic signalling systems fitter	39222	Employment interviewer
31273	Electronics draughtsman	82729	Emulsifier (dairy products)
21441	Electronics engineer (general)	73232	Enameller, ceramic
31003	Electronics engineer, assistant	73232	Enameller, glass
31231	Electronics engineering assistant (general)	73139	Enameller, jewellery
31231	Electronics engineering technician (general)	22218	Endocrinologist
72431	Electronics fitter (general)	83129	Engine driver, railway
72439	Electronics fitter (industrial equipment)	82112	Engine setter-operator (metalworking)
72439	Electronics fitter (instruments)	72310	Engine tuner
72439	Electronics fitter (medical equipment)	31511	Engineer officer, chief (ship)
72439	Electronics fitter (meteorological equipment)	31512	Engineer officer, marine
72432	Electronics fitter (radio, television and radar equipment)	31512	Engineer officer, ship
21110	Electronics physicist	21429	Engineer, aerodrome construction
		21455	Engineer, aeronautical
		21499	Engineer, agricultural
