

Personal Disposable Income and Saving Second Quarter 2025

Personal disposable income refers to the maximum amount that the personal sector (i.e., households<sup>1</sup> and non-profit institutions serving households (NPISHs)<sup>2</sup>) can afford to spend on consumption of goods and services, without having to reduce their financial or non-financial assets or to increase their liabilities. Personal saving (i.e., the difference between personal disposable income and private consumption expenditure of goods and services) reflects the funds available for the purchase of financial assets, non-financial assets or repayment of debts. Hence, personal saving differs from the common perception of 'saving', which often refers to the amount of deposits in bank accounts.

In nominal terms, personal disposable income grew by 2.5% on a year-on-year basis in the second quarter of 2025, moderating from the 4.4% increase in the previous quarter. The moderation in growth can be attributed to weaker growth of compensation of employees.

Personal saving contracted by 2.1% on a year-on-year basis in the second quarter of 2025, reversing the 4.5% growth recorded in the first quarter. The personal saving rate, which is defined as the share of personal saving out of personal disposable income, decreased to 27.5% in the second quarter of 2025 from 36.2% in the previous quarter.
